

Digital Photography II

Camera Comparisons

Due Date _____

Target(s)

- Students will compare and contrast different cameras for future purchase.
- Students will become aware of the options and features of cameras.

Use the Internet to compare different digital cameras that you may be interested in purchasing.

Criteria	Nikon D70s or D80	Canon Digital Rebel XT	Other Digital SLR:
Pixel Count (Mega pixels)
Image Sensor
Media Type (what type of memory card does it use?)
Continuous Shooting mode – how many frames per second?
File Formats
ISO Ratings
Shutter Speeds
Battery Type
Focus Modes
Scene/Exposure Modes
Video or Audio Recording
LCD Display, size and any features
Dimensions and weight
Lens mount (what brand of lenses will it accept)
Other key features
Lowest price and vendor you can find from at least 3 different vendors

Point and Shoot Digital Cameras

Criteria	Kodak P880 (used in Photo I)	Canon Powershot G6 (used in Photo I)	Camera Name:
Pixel Count (Mega pixels)
Image Sensor Type
Media Type (what type of memory card does it use?)
Continuous Shooting mode – how many frames per second?
File Formats
ISO Ratings
Shutter Speeds
Battery Type
Focus Modes
Scene/Exposure Modes
Video or Audio Recording
LCD Display, size and any features
Dimensions and weight
Computer Interface
Other key features
Lowest price and vendor you can find from at least 3 different vendors

There are many sites out there that sell cameras, such as:
www.dpreview.com or www.bhphoto.com